

Proceedings In Police Court.

Bar-Tender Fined $25 for Selling Whiskey on Sunday. Proprietor Acquitted.

On Wednesday morning, Oct. 17, the charges against Jack Pearce for selling whiskey without license, and against John Withrow, bartender in D. N. Young's saloon, for selling whiskey on Sunday, Judge Kemper presiding. The charges were made by policeman O. M. Willoughby.

In Pearce's case the evidence was submitted to Judge Kemper. He decided that the city of Mt. Sterling had failed to make a case, hence Pearce was discharged.

When Withrow's case was called the charge preferred was that he had sold whiskey on Sunday morning. City Attorney Day, asked that a jury try this case. From the twelve men summoned the following six were chosen: J. H. Wood, W. A. Sutton, B. H. Coyle, Henry Greenwald, J. L. Branner and Ernest Little. The witnesses were, O. M. Willoughby for the city, John Withrow and George Owings, colored, for the defense. The chief points brought out in testimony were: Willoughby, on Sunday morning, Oct. 14th, after 9:30 o'clock, was passing D. N. Young's saloon, he looked through the window and saw Owings hand money to Withrow, the bartender; saw him open the cash register and deposit the money; saw Withrow pick up a bottle of whiskey from the counter, scratch the label from the bottle and set bottle on counter; saw a man's hand take the bottle (Owings was then standing behind a screen, so that his body could not be seen). Willoughby, on the street, talked with Owings after the latter came out of the saloon, and Owings told him that Withrow, after seeing Willoughby at the window, gave money back to him.

Withrow testified that he was in the saloon at the time specified, that Owings and three other parties who usually clean up the saloon were there cleaning up; that he did not sell or give whiskey to Owings; that he did not put the bottle of whiskey on the counter; that he was straightening up the things; that Owings wished to buy some meat for Owings' sick wife and he (Withrow) changed some money for Owings; that Owings assisted three other parties in cleaning up the saloon on Sunday morning but could not tell what Owings did on this Sunday morning; that he (Withrow) pays the men for such work but does not keep account of what he pays; that he saw Willoughby looking through the window into the saloon.

Owings testified that for some years he had known Withrow, before and since he (Withrow) was employed by D. N. Young; that he was in the saloon at the time specified; that he did not buy or get any whiskey there on Sunday morning, because he knew it would be no use to try on Sunday; that he did, however, have a dram that morning; there attorney Day asked where he got the dram, Owings replied that a gentleman had given it and appeared hesitant about telling. Jailer C. T. Wilson who was in the court room spoke up and in substance said: tell it. Owings then pointed to Wilson as the one who gave the whiskey; that he helps clean up at Young's saloon; that when Willoughby on the street asked him about the whiskey he threw back his coat and said, here I am, search me; that Willoughby had threatened to "put him up" if he did not confess that he got whiskey; that he had talked with Day and Willoughby in Day's office.

[Here he evidently tried to produce the impression that they wished to get him to convict Withrow, whether or not facts justified. Attorney Day interposed by saying that he urged Owings to tell the truth and Owings admitted this; that he would not tell a lie.

Judge Kemper read to the jury the law applicable to the case. The penalty when guilt is established, is a fine from $10 to $50.

In a few minutes the jury returned a verdict and imposed a fine of $25.

OBSERVATIONS:

On first ballot all the jury voted "guilty."

We regret that any saloon-keeper or employee violates this law, we regret that any man is satisfied to engage in the saloon business.

We are always pleased to encourage a policeman in the discharge of his duty, and it affords us pleasure thus to commend Mr. Willoughby.

On Thursday morning D. N. Young, proprietor of above saloon, was tried, charged with keeping his saloon open on Sunday. The jury consisted of L. N. Phipps, W. O. Cheanalt, Wm. Clark, Jno. C. Wood, Henry Senjeur and Harry Enoch. Much of same testimony was given, but nothing is shown that Mr. Young knew or approved of his saloon being open, but that he had directed that no sales be made on Sunday. The jury reported "not guilty."

AN OPEN LETTER

To The People of Mt. Sterling.

To Whom It May Concern:

Of late there has been a good deal of discussion in Mt. Sterling in regard to advertised medicines and their value--the papers are full of them.

We want to say to every man, woman and child in Mt. Sterling that we believe the most valuable preparation of cod liver oil--the best tonic reconstructer, health restorer and strength creator--we have ever sold in our store is Vinol.

Vinol is not a patent medicine, it contains no injurious drugs, but it actually does contain all of the medicinal, curative elements taken from fresh cod's livers, without a drop of the useless oil to upset the stomach and retard its work, and tonic iron added.

Vinol is recognized throughout the world as the greatest strength creator for old people, weak sickly women and children, nursing mothers, and after a severe sickness.

Vinol cures hacking coughs, chronic colds, bronchitis, and all throat and lung troubles. We ask the people of Mt. Sterling to try Vinol on our offer to return money if it fails. W. S. Lloyd, Druggist.

NOTE.--While we are sole agents for Vinol in Mt. Sterling, it is now for sale at the leading drug store in nearly every town and city in the country. Look for the Vinol agency in your town.

A Word To The Wise.

Says the Evening Times:

"Where the party primaries are so conducted that every candidate has counted for him every vote cast for him, there is no danger that the party will ever be dominated by a machine. If mistakes are made in the selection of nominees they will be due to the error of the party as expressed by the majority of its voters, not to the greed or dishonesty of one man or a combination of men, and the people at the polls may safely be looked to for the correction of such errors."

In the Democratic primary on Tuesday, November 6, the Times is determined so far as its influence with the Democratic party goes, that it shall be exercised in giving just representation at the polls in the form of inspectors where a candidate has opposition, and in the selection by the party authorities of men to serve as officers of the primary who will give to every candidate a square deal. However strong may be its desire in this respect, and however much it may meet the approval of the party authority, it will fail of realization, unless the candidates themselves see to it that the men named by them as election officers can safely be entrusted with the party's honor, thereby insuring the party's right to success in the election of its nominees. If this is not done and fraud should taint the primary, its first cost will fall deservedly on the candidates, but the party, too, will suffer undeservedly."

The Courier-Kentuckian indorses every word of this. It is truth as plain as Holy Writ. But we go a step farther to say that we shall join other good citizens and good Democrats in exposing fraud, if fraud appears, and in hunting down and bringing to justice those who attempt it or effect it.

Now is the accepted time to call a halt on corruption at the polls, no matter at whose expense. All parties have had a hand in it. Scarcely a faction of either the Democratic or the Republican party but has been tarred with the same brush. Each committeeman in the coming Primary owes it to himself, to his country, and to his political associates personally to devote himself to a fair vote and an honest count. Never was there greater need for this, both in the Democratic Primary and in the General Election.

A word to the wise ought to be good for sore eyes.

Liquor Dealers Are Barred By The Kentucky Masons.

One Of Most Exciting Debates In History of Grand Lodge.

At Louisville last week after one of the most exciting and most animated debates in the history of the grand Lodge of Kentucky Masons the resolution proposed barring liquor dealers from entrance into any Masonic lodge in Kentucky was passed in a slightly amended form.

The amendment made the resolution even more drastic, for on motion of Grand Master Garnett, druggists were included if they sold liquor for a beverage.

At least twenty speeches were made upon the subject.

Questions came from all parts of the room as to how the resolution would affect liquor dealers now members of the order.

PRESENT MEMBERS TO REMAIN.

"According to the Grand Lodge they are in a very bad business," replied Grand Master Garnett.

It was generally agreed, however, that the liquor dealers or distillers, who are now Masons, shall remain in the order, but that the brethren shall urge them to take some other occupation.

The feeling seemed to be also that no liquor dealer or distiller can be further advanced in Masonry to which he has already attained at the time of the passage of this resolution.

DEBATES ON THE REPORT.

The report was read by Past Grand Master B. G. Witt, and it recommended that the resolution be made a part of the constitution. This would necessitate its laying over for a year, and the report of this committee was, therefore, strongly opposed by Past Grand Master Wilhelm, the author of the resolution.

Past Grand Master W. C. McChord, then made an earnest speech of fifteen minutes, in which he urged the adoption of the report and the deferring of the whole question for a year, not only to comply with the organic law, but to give the fraternity an opportunity to study the question.

URGES IMMEDIATE VOTE.

George Shaw, Master of Shiloh lodge, of Louisville, urged an immediate vote upon the question. D. D. Gray, of Louisville, opposed the whole resolution and the committee's report. Samuel K. Veach, who was on Wednesday selected Grand Master, then got the floor and demanded immediate action.

"This question has been side-tracked often enough," said Mr. Veach. "The Grand Lodge is now face to face with it and the issue cannot be avoided."

AMENDMENT AS TO DRUGGISTS.

An amendment was adopted providing that no man engaged in the manufacture or sale of liquor, and no druggist who sells liquor as a beverage, under any circumstances, shall be admitted into a lodge of Kentucky Masons, and that any lodge which violates this order shall forfeit its charter.

One delegate asked if this resolution did not mean that all employees in distilleries would be barred. Past Grand Master Witt was clearly of that opinion, and so argued. He said that the clerk who received payments, the man who drives the wagon, the engineer who shovels coal in a distillery--all would be barred.

GRAND MASTER GARNETT'S VIEW.

Grand Master Garnett took a contrary view and said that such questions could with wisdom be left to the subordinate lodges.

The Grand Lodge was by this time up to a high state of excitement, and there were loud cries of "question." A few tried to stay the tide in vain, and the amendment offered by Mr. Veach was passed forbidding any lodge to admit a liquor dealer in the next twelve months and then the report of the committee was adopted as amended. The vote was taken by a rising vote. In all thirty-two votes were cast against the resolution. As about 450 voted, the vote, therefore, stood 418 against the liquor dealers, and 32 in favor of admitting them.

PRESENT MEMBERS NOT AFFECTED.

A delegate from Eastern Kentucky was then recognized, and he offered a resolution pro-t all Masons now engaged in the liquor business be given one year to close up their business. If they failed to do this they should then be suspended.

Grand Master Garnett ruled that question out of order, and said that the standing of no Mason could be impeached except for conduct considered un-Masonic at the time he was elected a member of the order. The consideration of the liquor resolution was the last matter of importance up for consideration.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

We are authorized to announce
HON. J. WILLIAMS, in connection with the election of the Democratic ticket.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

For Congress
F. A. HOPKINS
of Floyd County.

Special Registration closes today.

Let every man vote, both Democrats and Republicans, and then let the votes be counted as cast.

The game law is not out. Yet reports have reached us of a tremendous slaughter of birds that is going on. Put the lid on.

Do not be deceived by the slanders circulated by the saloon element. They will resort to many things to carry their point.

Hopkins is a temperance man and stands pat on law enforcement. He believes with Governor Beckham, that the lid should go on and stay there.

Judge Alex. P. Humphrey, of Louisville, one of the greatest lawyers of Kentucky, has announced for Beckham for Senator, because of his attitude on the great moral issues of the campaign.

Temperance voters, place the Democratic Party upon the side of temperance. Remember that a vote for Beckham is an expression of your desire that the Great Democratic Party shall stand on the side of moral ideals and law enforcement.

If all the Democrats in the 10th District do their full duty they will vote for Hopkins and settle the Congressional question by a large majority. If they don't do their full duty Hopkins will be elected just the same. The majority being the only question.

Hopkins has had sufficient experience to be able to get right down to business and bring things to pass, and therefore even barring politics which are in the interest of the great common people, would be the better man to serve the people of the Tenth Congressional District.

When Marse Henry, "Money and Morals," went growling, making the very timber to shake in the Courier-Journal's woods, The Herald, a Republican paper, was moved to say: "The Government had waked up the wrong lion." Is it a fact that The Herald is a cat of the Courier-Journal?

Aaron Kohn, the expert jury flier, of Louisville, and John H. Whallen, the representative of the liquor interests of Louisville and owner of the dive known as the Buckingham Theatre have announced their intentions to oppose Gov. Beckham because of his action in enforcing the Sunday closing laws. Will you stand for Kohn and Whallen or for the great moral issue now before the people?

Conduct a general banking business, and all kinds of intimate banking.
Money to loan at all times at reasonable rates.
Careful and prompt attention to all business.

DAVID HOWELL, Cashier.

A TIME FOR SERIOUS THOUGHT.
A question vital to the Democratic party confronts it today. The issue is the strict observance of Sabbath laws and the temperance question. Governor Beckham stands squarely, is committed to the enforcement of the Sunday laws and pledged to the temperance cause. Voter, what are you for and how will you vote November 6th? Be careful, be serious, be sure you are right before casting your ballot. The destiny of your beloved State for years to come may be on the balance now, and your vote may break that balance.

DESERVE THEIR PUNISHMENT.
The murder of an inmate asylum by employees of the institution is horrifying. The trial of Pharris and Adams at Lexington reveals a degree of cruelty and heartlessness not to be expected in a civilized community. Their conviction was merited and possibly the sentence was too mild. No doubt the superintendent of the asylum will have his eyes opened to the deplorable condition of affairs.

AMEN.
Rev. Mark Collis in the closing paragraph of his sermon before his Lexington audience on the question of saloons said: "I may have some saloon keepers present, I would in no way hurt the feelings of any one of you. Many of you are kind-hearted fellows. You will feed the hungry and clothe the naked. But that does not atone for the awful wrong you are doing the community in making many more naked and hungry; in ruining the young men of our city; in breaking the hearts of mothers and of fathers, and in helping men on to everlasting perdition. Let me entreat you to think of these things and to quit this cruel business."

Another step would be to keep the lid on and to stand by and vote into office those people who endeavor to do right at the risk of losing their political lives. "I would rather be right than President," is the true principle.

WILL BE ENDORSED.
J. Will Clay made a safe representative. His powers brought good things to pass and kept some hurtful things from passing. In another assembly he would do better because he has experience now. For those and other reasons the people of Montgomery will endorse him.

Will the temperance people of Montgomery county listen to the advice of President Adams and other known temperance men, or will they accept the advice of the Seated Democrat, whose Editor has admitted that he voted for whiskey in the recent local option election and is now the mouthpiece of the whiskey candidates.

Temperance people, isn't it singular that all the whiskey people are so violently opposing Beckham? Think over it and then say by your vote whether you stand for or against the liquor interests.

Conduct a general banking business, and all kinds of intimate banking.
Money to loan at all times at reasonable rates.
Careful and prompt attention to all business.
The patronage of individuals and firms respectfully solicited.

Judge Hager in his circuit through Nicholas and Bath had large audiences and made a fine impression. He will secure a large vote in this section where he is very popular. All indications point to Judge Hager carrying Montgomery county easy.

THE BLACK CANCER.

THE VICIOUS NEGRO AND THE
NORTH'S RESPONSIBILITY FOR HIM.

A Northern Editor's Vigorously Outspoken Words To the Northern People.

[The Minneapolis Bellman.]

The fearful occurrences in Atlanta, Ga., which have horrified readers of the daily press may well give us of the North a shock. We deserve it and we need it to awaken us to a realization of our responsibilities to our brethren of the South. A race war, undertaken on the part of the whites in sacred defense of their homes, or an unlawful outbreak in which the innocent and guilty of one race were alike sacrificed to the unad-vised vengeance of another; consider it either way, as you will:
denounce it or excuse it; find pullulation in the gravest of provocations humanity can know or condemn the perpetrators as outrageous law-breakers, you cannot avoid the awful fact that the condition which is responsible for it exists and must be reckoned with.

This dreadful problem presses for a permanent solution. The conclusion of the rebellion demonstrated, once and for all, that th's was a nation. Being such, its component parts must share responsibility for the maintenance of order and justice within its borders. If the protection of woman is not the supreme duty of the American citizen, whether he lives north or south of Mason and Dixon's line, then our country no longer deserves to rank among civilized nations. If it is, then it is time that the citizens of the North ceased to consider the problem of the South as an academic question to be discussed calmly and regretfully at a safe distance from the scene of horror and shame. It is his duty to come forward, manfully, and acknowledge his share of the blame and assume his part of the burden.

The North is even more responsible for this overshadowing horror than the South. Let it face the facts as they are and cease this sloppy, sentimental talk about the elevation of the negro race and the need of self-control on the part of the Southern Caucasian. Ethical considerations, fine-spun theoretical, philanthropical devices for a gradual elevation of the negro are not entitled to a moment's consideration when it is true that no white woman living in the South is safe for a moment unless guarded by the gun.

The North freed these negroes,
It elevated them to citizenship and proclaimed them the possessors of equal rights with the whites. Previous to the war, slavery, accursed though it was, held them in subjection and restrained the bruties among them, and they were many,
from violence. Careless of consequences, the North let them loose and encouraged them to believe themselves equal in everything to their former masters. After a brief interregnum of carpet-bag government, the conspirators returned to their safe, pure, protected homes, secure in the knowledge that the law was amply strong to protect them from assault and their women from dishonor. They washed their hands of responsibility;
they left to the impoverished, defeated, disheartened South the task of making the newly-freed worthy of citizenship.

Since then the North has contributed largely of money to educate the negro. It has sent Northern teachers, devoted, self-sacrif-ing, well-meaning persons, full of zeal to lift the once oppressed race to a higher plane. It has sympathized with and supported every scheme devised to benefit the negro and has lauded to the highest skies every effort to create in him social, political and financial aspirations. To the protests of the white men of the South, who knew the negro and had to live with him, that the methods chosen were

FLUE CURING IMPROVES TOBACCO LIKE ROASTING IMPROVES GREEN COFFEE

Flue Curing Develops the Stimulating Aroma and Taste
Found in Schnapps that Satisfies Tobacco Hunger

There are three ways used by farmers for curing and preparing their tobacco for the market; namely, sun cured, air cured and flue cured. The old and cheap way is called air cured; the later discovery and improved way is called flue cured. In flue-curing the tobacco is taken from the field and suspended over intensely hot flues in houses especially built to retain the heat, and there kept in the proper temperature until this curing process develops in the tobacco the stimulating taste and fragrant aroma found in Schnapps tobacco, just as green coffee is made fragrant and stimulating by the roasting process. Only choice selections of this ripe, juicy flue cured leaf, grown in the famous Piedmont country, where the best tobacco grows, are used in Schnapps and other Reynolds' brands of high grade, flue cured tobaccos.

Hundreds of imitation brands are on sale that look like Schnapps; the outside of the imitation plugs of tobacco is flue cured, but the inside is filled with cheap, flimsy, heavily sweetened air cured tobacco; one chew of Schnapps will satisfy tobacco hunger longer than two chews of such tobacco.

Expert tests prove that this flue cured tobacco, grown in the famous Piedmont region, requires and takes less sweetening than any other kind, and has a wholesome, stimulating, satisfying effect on chewers. If the kind of tobacco you are chewing don't satisfy, more than the mere habit of expectorating, stop fooling yourself and chew Schnapps tobacco.

Schnapps is like the tobacco chewers formerly bought costing from 75c. to $1.00 per pound; Schnapps is sold at 50c. per pound in 5c. cuts, strictly 10 and 15 cent plugs.

R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO COMPANY, WINSTON-SALEM, N. C.

wrong and mischievous and would surely result in disaster, the people of the North turned a deaf ear.

The Southern white man's exact knowledge of conditions was discredited, his advice scorned, his warnings unheeded. Although he had demonstrated repeatedly his fidelity to the restored Union and had shown his willingness to serve his country in the field when the emergency arose, he was deemed unworthy of confidence in questions affecting the negro. He was told to observe the law, when the law was unable to save him or what was a thousand times more important, to save the dearest thing on earth to him—his women. He was told to contain himself, to be patient and await the results of long-distance Northern theorizing.

Meantime he was surrounded by a dense mass of ignorant negroes fast forgetting what little of self-control had been inherited from a former generation which had been trained to respect the white man and honor the white woman and rapidly returning to a state of brutal savagery, every day degenerating, as a whole, morally, and becoming an increasing menace to civilization. Upon this vicious, ignorant, debased horde, the puny schemes of race elevation were as snowflakes falling into the seething ocean. Still the Southern whites protected, warned and implored, but Northern sentimentality was proof against the natural appeals of race, the ties of kinship and the dictates of nature.

Now it has at length come to pass that the deluge has broken and this problem, long in the brewing of its malign factors, must be effectually settled, not alone by the South, but the north as well. We have had enough of theorizing, temporizing, philosophizing; it is time to act. Northern people are not generally aware of the fact, but it is, nevertheless, true that the state of the mass of negroes in the South is so deplorable, so utterly, hopelessly, fearfully lacking in moral conceptions that there exists in many Southern States a condition which this or any other respectable journal would not dare describe except in the most general terms so barbarous and shocking would the details be if truly and plainly related.

White women and children are not safe, they cannot walk unguarded in the streets of the cities even in the daytime. At night, doors must be locked and windows barred, the revolver must be ready at hand, if the black assailant is to be kept out. In many portions of the black belt, the family of the white man lives in a constant state of siege; a fate worse than death awaits its members if they dare relax their vigilance for an hour. Northern people do not know the truth and their journals are not enlightening them. The South, for very shame, is loth to let the facts be known, but a residence of even a few weeks in any portion of the country where the ignorant negro population is congested will convince the most sceptical that this hideous danger is always imminent and very real.

The crime of stealing is the very least of the negro's offenses against Southern society. The whites of the South have long since ceased to expect that he will respect rights of property. Larceny is looked upon as a joke. As well might one expect the leopard to change his spots, as the Southern negro to refrain from stealing. It is possible to protect against this comparatively minor offense; it is the hideous crimes, the unspeakable horrors that are the real menace. Against these the law is powerless, because it recognizes no punishment adequate to the offense; it can devise nothing that will prevent its recurrence and the harm done is irreparable.

Ordinary punishment, adequate in the North to check crime, fails entirely in the South to restrain the negro even from the commission of minor misdemeanors. The disgrace of imprisonment does not touch him, as a rule. In many Southern towns, when cold weather approaches many of them commit theft in order to be arrested and sentenced to the penitentiary during the winter months, there to be maintained in comfort until spring. When again at liberty they come back, and are met at the train by their neighbors, relatives and friends, and escorted in triumph to their lurking places as if they were heroes instead of criminals let loose from jail.

The fear of immediate and dreadful death is powerless to control the brutal degenerated negro. His mind is too feeble and shallow to consider the consequences of his crime and the brute in him, once awakened, reckons nothing whatever of future punishment. The force of example, even in its most terrifying form when frenzied mobs wreak vengeance in burning and sickening torture, does not impress itself upon this class for more than a very brief time. Its intellect is so inferior and its imagination so utterly diseased that the effect of such horrid spectacles soon wears off.

This national cancer is a revolting subject. One is loathe to speak of it, but if it is ever to be cut out, it must be realized and considered in all its horror, especially by Northern people who have too long shut their eyes to the truth. The South understands it, and the better classes of whites, to whom our sympathy and aids should be extended in the fullest measure, know further that, besides the vicious negro, they have with them a large element of ignorant, violent, intemperate white people for whose crude and revolting execution of lynch law they are held responsible by the world.

It is time for the North to bear a hand in the solution of the problem it has literally shared in creating. It can do so by ceasing to exploit the negro as the white man's enemy. It can do so by considering the mass of negroes in the South as they are, not as sentimentalists represent them to be. It can do so by discontinuing its fruitless attempt at higher cultivation of the negro. As long as the vast majority of the race in the South remains as it is, the strong arm of white control must be strengthened and encouraged to exert itself.

The negro must be taught the rudimentary virtues he has forgotten before he can aspire to a higher education. He must be made to obey, absolutely. He must be compelled to restrain himself. He must fear and respect the law, and he must be made to understand that if he dares to do as much as think wrongfully of a white woman he will deserve death, and at the slightest indication of an intent to commit wrong he will receive it. The North can do its duty by first understanding the condition as it is and then uniting with the Caucasian of the South, in the knowledge of and sympathy with his situation, to devise proper adequate and permanent relief.

What is now needed is less sentiment and more common sense on the part of the North. All the money it has to devote to humanitarian purposes, and all the sympathy and support it can summon should, in the grave emergency which threatens North and South alike, be placed, unreservedly and in the fullest confidence, back of the better class of white people in the South who alone are possessed of a full comprehension of the true situation and who alone are competent to deal with it adequately and justly.
